BRITISH WILL CLEAR TURKS OUT OF MOSUL TERRITORY

London, Oct. 15.—A war between Britain and Turkey looms up as a possibility today as an aftermath of the hostilities that have been going on for some weeks past along the Mosul frontier.

The reply of the Turkish government to the ultimatum forwarded by Great Britain in which Turkey denies any breaking of the status quo, is regarded as unsatisfactory in official circles here, consisting merely of words and vague promises similar to those given by the Turks at Geneva. It is further claimed that the Turks are untruthful in their assertions that the British forces guarding the frontier have dribbled in increasing numbers across the border and that today only a combined infantry and airplane force drive them out. The British government is in an accommodating mood but they are determined to clear the Turks out of Mosul.

SHANGHAI AT THE MERCY OF THE INVADING KIANGSU FORCE

Shanghai, Oct. 13.—Their defeated armies retreating in confusion towards Shanghai, General Lu Yung-hsiang, military governor of Chekiang province, and his chief aide, General H. Feng-Lin, defense commissioner of Shanghai, today announced they had signed an armistice with the invading Kiangsu forces, representing the central government of China.

GENERAL ELECTION IN GREAT BRITAIN SET FOR OCT. 29

London, Oct. 10.—With parliament dissolved at the request of Premier MacDonald, following the defeat of the government in the house of commons, the utterances of the politicians and the comment of the press indicate that the coming election on October 29 is likely to be one of the bitterest in recent years.

Sidney Webb, president of the board of trade, is quoted as saying that the campaign will be "an especially dirty one" and the angry tone already manifest in many declarations seems to justify the prediction.

One sign of the eagerness of the Liberals and Conservatives to prevent another labor government victory is the initiation of negotiations between the older parties with a view to minimizing the number of three-cornered contests. Failure to arrange any such Liberal-Conservative agreement in the last election led to the return of laborites by minority votes.

"Give and Take" Agreement

The movement now on foot has not taken shape of a formal compact between the respective leaders and there is no talk of a coalition, but strings are being pulled behind the scenes to insure that the way will be clear for a "give and take" basis for the success of anti-government candidates of either party. This, if it is to succeed, implies that the Conservatives must support the Liberals in some constituencies and vice versa.

It is evident that the women are to participate in the fight to an extent at least equal to that of the last election. The headquarters of all the parties have received numerous offers of help from women and all have several women candidates with prospects of more. Aside from the eight women members of parliament, all of whom are seeking re-election, more than a score of aspirants are announced, the laborites having by far the greatest number.

Berlin Comment

Berlin, Oct. 10.—Commenting on the downfall of the MacDonald government, Germany, the clerical organ which is very close to Chancellor Marx, stresses the part played by the British labor government in promoting the London conference which accomplished the ratification and enforcement of the Dawes plan.

"This achievement is deserving of adequate recognition abroad," it says. The German reactionary press are disinclined to manifest sorrow, declaring that Mr. MacDonald disappointed Germans who had high hopes in him.

Women Candidates

London, Oct. 10.—(By Canadian Press Cable)—Among the women candidates for parliament is Dame Helen Gwynne Vaughan, professor at the University of London, who is again the Conservative candidate in the London borough at Camberwell. Dame Vaughan was in the triangular contest in Camberwell in the general election of 1923 won by C. J. Ammon, laborite.

Miss Evelyn Pilkington, a member taken and Dexter, suddenly imbued with new life, dashes down the village street and leaves Merton in the dust in front of the crowd. Gash-wilder discharges him and Merton goes to Hollywood.

Life for an "extra" in Hollywood is not always a garden of sweet-smelling roses. Especially an untrained, uncouth, ungainly "extra." For weeks on end Merton tramps the streets from studio to studio, meeting rebuffs. He has camped for days in the outer office of the Holden Studios when Sally Montague, known to Hollywood as "Flips," takes pity upon him.

"Flips" is a comedienne. Merton

loathes comedies. His heart is set upon becoming a great bronzed hero from the wide open spaces where men are men. But he is induced to borrow her make-up box, powder his face, and thus stalks by the studio gatekeeper.

Once in the studio, Merton is loath to leave. During the days he is the wise, hardened man of the world, strolling nonchalantly here and there, and everything is in order. At night he is a lonely boy, sleeping in a deserted, half roofless hut that was once a motion picture "set." Sally Montague continues to minister to him, although to her he plays the role of a blasé gentleman of leisure.

She is not deceived, and smuggles food to him when opportunity affords. But he finds no opportunity to work, his clothing is in rags and he is weak from hunger—and still he will not leave the studio in fear that he may never be permitted to re-enter.

The conclusion of the story has an unusual twist that will amuse audiences. Others in the remarkable cast are De Witt Jennings, Elliott Roth, Luke Cosgrave and Gale Henry.

Calgary, Oct. 10.—The coal strike was settled this afternoon.

The announcement followed a joint session of the miners' officials and operators at 1 o'clock. The basis of settlement was:

Cut of $1.17 daily on contract miners' wages (the war bonus).

Cut of 12 1/2 per cent. on wages of day men.

Three-year agreement.

The miners will immediately take a referendum, and if the basis of the agreement is accepted, the mines will be working next week after 6 1/2 months of idleness.

Basis of Settlement

Calgary, Oct. 10.—It was learned from two official but thoroughly reliable sources at noon on Friday that, subject to ratification by a referendum vote of the rank and file of the miners, a basis of settlement has been reached in the long-drawn-out coal miners' strike.

The basis of settlement, it is stated, is a $1.17 per day reduction in the wages of contract miners, and one-eighth reduction in the wages of day men. The duration of the contract is for three years subject to six months' notice of termination by either side after March 31, next. In other words, the agreement will run to March 31, 1927, subject to the six months' notice as stated.

The operators' and miners' officials met in joint session on Friday morning, with Premier Herbert Greenfield and Hon. James Murdock, federal minister of labor, present. The agreement, as mentioned, was reached after two hours' parley.

A further meeting is being held at one o'clock when it is stated the agreement will be ratified.

All that will then remain will be for it to be submitted to a referendum vote of the miners.

It is thought among those of both sides that there will be no any doubt, but that the miners will agree to the terms of settlement.

Demand 3-Year Contract

It was only after prolonged negotiations that miners' officials agreed to

FAMOUS ENGLISH COMEDY

"Me and My Gal" Captivates Canadian Audiences

The famous English comedy success, "Me and My Gal," will be shown at the Empress Theatre on Friday and Saturday. This cinema has created quite a furore in the old country, where the winsomeness of the star, Betty Balfour, has captivated critics and public alike, and those remarkable characters, Sam Opkins, Bully Dawson and P. C. Chas. Lee, have made the whole country roar with laughter.

"Me and My Gal" is a delightful story of London life, at times saucy and piquant with the charm of an English love story and at other times uproariously funny with the English humor that made famous "Alf's Button" and "The Better Ole."

"Me and My Gal" has met with phenomenal success in the old country, playing to tremendous crowds and turning them away everywhere, and it is confidently expected to meet with the same popularity in Canada. Incidentally, the patrons of the Empress are asked to come early as the program is too long for two complete shows.

"MONTMARTRE" STARRING POLA NEGRI, DUE SOON

"Montmartre," Pola Negri's latest Paramount production, directed by Ernest Lubitsch, the man who made the star famous in "Passion," is a colorful romance of France about 1860.

In the picture, which comes to the Empress Theatre next Wednesday for a run of two days, Pola has the role of Yvette, an alluring dancer in the Cafe Flora in Montmartre. She has a chance meeting with a young composer, and he falls in love with her. But there is an older cousin who steps in and spoils everything by telling the musician's mother that Yvette is no kind of a woman for her son to be seen with—a café grisette and all that. Nevertheless they get married in secret.

The composer makes a great hit with his symphony. He is at the peak of his fame, and it goes to his head. He begins to pay less and less attention to his girl wife, and the one-time popular café dancer is now a broken woman.

With a novel twist in affairs, an altogether unexpected climax, all the composer's old love for Yvette comes rushing back, and—best of all—he tells the story when it is so infinitely more entertaining on the screen! If you're looking for entertainment, you won't want to miss "Montmartre." It's the biggest thing Pola Negri's ever done.

come anywhere near the $1.17 a day

reduction, and when they did they steadfastly held out for the three-year term.

It was this point which for some time during the latter part of the negotiations proved the stumbling block and which lead practically to a deadlock. There were times when there was every likelihood of negotiations being broken off altogether; indeed, when Premier Greenfield left for the north on Wednesday night, although he expressed hope of an eventual settlement, he confessed that the situation was of the utmost gravity and that only a great amount of diplomacy would prevent "everything going up in the air."

Throughout the latter part of the negotiations both Premier Greenfield and Hon. James Murdock, federal minister of labor, left no possible stone unturned in endeavoring to bring both parties together.

What the strike has cost the operators and rank and file of the miners will probably never be known, but at a conservative estimate it would run into hundreds of thousands of dollars.

Active preparations are being made for the referendum on the coal strike settlement. The miners will go to the polls Thursday and the result should be known late Thursday night or Friday morning. In the meantime, district officials are busy visiting the various locals for the purpose of explaining in detail the proceedings of the conference in Calgary and the terms of the proposed three-year pact.

From all parts of District 18 come reports of rejoicing over the settlement. Some opposition is heard, but the prevailing feeling is that acceptance of the agreement will be made by a decisive majority when the question is placed before the rank and file of the men Thursday next.

If the agreement is accepted the mines will likely open next Monday.

MORMONS PURCHASE COLLINSON RANCH

The Church Cattle outfit of Cardston have purchased the section of land situated between the river south of Macleod from C. H. Collinson, of Vancouver, formerly of Macleod. The price paid for the land is twenty dollars per acre. The Collinson farm is one of the best in the district and this year raised a big crop of wheat and oats. The place is at present leased by Ken. McGeehan. Mr. Collinson is in town this week on business in connection with the sale of his property.

MUST GO WITHIN 15 DAYS

Ottawa, Oct. 14.—The board of railway commissioners today issued an order disallowing the Crow's Nest Pass rates requiring them to be withdrawn from operation within fifteen days from today.

Ottawa, Oct. 14.—"It therefore follows that the reduction provided for in the Crow's Nest Pass agreement must disappear as a factor in Canadian freight tariffs. Under the conditions now prevailing, it is impossible to make a fair and reasonable adjustment of rates and tolls as between one locality and another, and as between the shipper and the railroads on the basis of the provisions of the Crow's Nest Pass agreement."

COLONIZING THE LETHBRIDGE NORTHERN

Definite steps towards a permanent policy of colonization of the surplus lands of the Lethbridge Northern Irrigation District are being taken by the Provincial Government, according to an announcement made this week by Premier Greenfield. The Government, which, since its inception, has been giving the new project such consideration as possible, and which has already done a certain amount of colonizing, realizes the necessity for a more aggressive and comprehensive policy to put the project on a successful basis. The government recognizes the principal that successful colonization involves the necessity of reduction in area of present owners in the Lethbridge Northern district are overburdened with land, which makes overhead costs high. A survey is now being conducted of the entire district to obtain information as to the holdings of present owners, the amount of land they would dispose of, their farm records and financial conditions. With this detailed information available, the Government will be in a position to settle upon a permanent policy of colonization. The Government has in mind that any policy dealing with the Lethbridge Northern should serve as an aid to and supplement in an orderly way a general policy for the re-establishment of the areas affected by drought. The Government is now dealing in an immediate way with the removal of settlers from these areas, but recognizes the need of a policy dealing with the whole situation in a more permanent way.

GRAND MILITARY ARMISTICE BALL

The Great War Veterans of Macleod have decided to have the last Dance ever held in Macleod on November 10th next, which is the day set aside for the celebration of Armistice and Thanksgiving day. In last week's issue we published this as a masquerade ball, which is wrong, as Chairman Whitworth has informed us that it is no masquerade, but a real bang up-to-date Military Ball. All the Vets are putting their shoulder to the wheel to put this dance over the top in big style, and there is no doubt whatever of their doing it. We understand a big special orchestra has been engaged, the finest dance music in Southern Alberta, and care and time is being spent on arranging a program to ensure the best and brightest in Terpsichorean efforts.

RADIO VS. NEWSPAPER

"Will the radio eventually end newspapers?" is the question asked by an Eastern enthusiast.

The answer is no.
Without going into any labored argument against the proposition, one simple scientific fact proves the negative case.

Psychology divides people into three types, according to the manner in which they take in knowledge:
1. Those who gain knowledge through the ear and remember what they learn by reproduction of sound in the memory cells of the brain.
2. Those who can only remember things by repeating them aloud.
In their case it is the muscular reaction of the throat that stimulates the memory cells.
3. Those who take in knowledge through the eye and who remember

Most people are mixtures of all three types, with one usually predominating.
Pure "visualizers," or those who take in and remember knowledge chiefly by sight, constitute about 65 per cent. of the English-speaking peoples.

The spoken word can never supplant the written word until all these millions of people undergo a radical change in their mental equipment. And that is not likely to happen for a century or so at least.

MUSSOLINI WOULD BE REMEMBERED

Premier Benito Mussolini of Italy will build the largest skyscraper in the world at Rome. It will be 80 storeys high, contain 4,500 rooms, 100 halls, a theatre and a gymnasium.
Mussolini intends it to be an eternal monument to Fascism and to himself.

Some quiet night Benito Mussolini should take a walk among the ruins of ancient Rome that lie not far from his office.

Perhaps, sitting on the fallen columns of the great Forum, he might remember that the names of those mighty Roman citizens that erected that splendid masonry are all but forgotten, while the name of another Roman, one Paul, who was hunted through the catacombs of his city like a wild beast, still lives vigorously 2000 years since.

The tower of Babel habit is still strong. But even after nearly 9000 years, mankind, including Premier Mussolini, has not yet learned that the way to be remembered on this earth is not to build towers and monuments, but to contribute thoughts to the human race that aid its moral

RUSSIA'S LAST KISS

Russians of all ages and conditions have kissed their last kiss.
No longer will the echoes of oscula-tory smacks resound throughout Moscow.

The long-drawn-out adhesive kiss of young lovers has been banned along with the post-breakfast peck of blasé husbands and wives. Even little Bolsheviks of tender ages are to be denied the thrills of "post office."

The reason is that Dr. Alexander Zemahko, Soviet commissar of health, has banned the practice as a menace to health.

He must be right. The shepherd knows his own flock best.
But is seems a pretty hard lot for the Russians to fight for freedom, only to have their chief indoor sport taken away from them.

Probably the only class that will welcome the new order will be young girls of courtly age. And if current cartoons of Bolshevik patriots, displaying a wealth of whiskers, have any foundation in fact, they, at least, must feel relief.

The Russians have lost their vodka, lost their religion, their money, their social functions and their literature.
And now their kiss has gone.

HARVEST THANKSGIVING SER- VICES IN MACLEOD

On Sunday last the annual Harvest Thanksgiving Services were celebrated at the Anglican and Methodist Churches.

The morning service at Christ Church was largely attended, and full choral communion service was celebrated. The Rev. W. J. Merrick, the rector, conducted and preached the sermon at this service. In the evening the sermon was delivered by the Rev. S. Middleton, rector of St.
Paul's, and his very applicable and seasonable address was appreciated by the large congregation.

At the Methodist Church, the Rev.
Dr. Tuttle D.D., principal of Edmonton University, preached both morning, afternoon and evening, and his strong inspiring messages to the Macleod people will long be remembered by the large congregations that attended. The special music at both morning and evening services was greatly appreciated, and its rendition, both instrumental and vocal, was perfect.

O'CONNELL BRIDGE

In Dublin town the people see Gorgeous clouds sail gorgeously.
They are finer, I declare, Than the clouds of anywhere.

A swirl of blue and red and green, A stream of blinding gold, a sheen From silver hill and pearly ridge Comes each evening on the bridge.

So when you walk in a field look down
Lest you tramp on a daisy's crown.
But in a city always high And watch the beautiful clouds go by.

—James Stephens, in "The Rocky Road to Dublin."

AUTUMN MORNING, CAMBRIDGE

I ran out in the morning, when the air was clean and new,
And all the grass was glittering, and grey with autumn dew.

I ran out to the apple-tree and pulled an apple down,
And all the bells were ringing in the old grey town.

Down in the town, off the bridges and the grass,
They are sweeping up the leaves to let the people pass.

Sweeping up the old leaves, golden-reds and browns, While the men go to lecture with the wind in their gowns.

—Frances Cornford, in "Spring Morning."

Scalp specialists will tell you the big problem with scalp ailments is to Massage cream is a patented bottle with a special rubber applicator attached. The method of application is easy—cleanly. The medicament is fed through rubber nipples directly to the roots of the hair while the scalp is being massaged.

One minute a day with Van Lee

A CHILDREN'S STORY

"GEORGIE, PORGIE, PUDDING AND PIE"

By Seekay

Georgie, Porgie, pudding and pie, Kissed the girls and made them cry.
When the girls came out to play, Georgie, Porgie ran away.

My dear kiddies, I am sure there isn't one of you who can guess or even imagine who Georgie was, and if you can, well all I can say is, you are very clever indeed. When I was a little girl I used to ask everyone who Georgie Porgie could be, and I never could get a satisfactory answer.

I was talking over the radio with Mother Hubbard the other day, telling her of my laugh over Deedle, deedle, dumpling, when she informed me, that if I wanted another good laugh, I had better go over to Dr.
Wacken's house, about 11.30 tomorrow morning, and at the same time solve another so called Nursery Rhyme mystery.

Acting on Mother Hubbard's advice, I walked over to the Schoolmaster's residence about half past eleven the next morning, but the only living thing I could see was a big fat, curly coated, good natured alre-dale dog lying in the sun, with one eye open, the other closed. I stooped to pat him, when he wagged his tail and said: "Hello Aunt Peggy, if you wait awhile you're going to see lots of fun, because the girls are coming out of school in a few minutes," and with that he bounded up and licked my face.

Just at that moment the girls commenced coming out of school, and the big alredate at once bounded across the playground, and had all kinds of fun with the girls, both little and big. One of his favorite tricks was to get the girls down on the ground, and then proceed to lick their faces, although it was very noticeable that he was very gentle with the young ladies, and they were having just as much fun in the game as the dog was. You never heard such screaming, and barking, and laughing in your life, and very soon I myself was enjoying the game as much as the children.

A few minutes after this the boys of the school started to come out, and the dog immediately put his tail between his legs and ran away quite quickly, and once more took up his position on the steps of his Master's residence.

Wondering why this was I walked over to the alredate and asked him in Nursery Rhyme language the reason he stopped playing so suddenly and ran away, and he told me the following story:

"I have lived here for many years, and am the Doctor's best friend, in fact we are inseparable pals. For several years I had a brother with me, and the Master, my brother and myself used to go wolf and bear hunting every year; unfortunately my brother got killed by a bear, and the Master nearly lost his life too, so since then we haven't been hunting big game. When my brother and I were little puppies the Master called him Josh Posh, and me Georgie Porgie, because we were such fat chubby little fellows, and those names always played with us. At one time I used to play with boys as well as the girls, but the boys were too rough and hurt me on several occasions, and when I nipped them a little hard to show they were hurting me, why they would commence throwing big rocks at me, then if I turned and growled they would go and tell the Master.

My Master then gave orders that the next boy who was seen playing with me would be whipped, the next morning I rushed over to the boys as usual, but the master stepped out and gave me a good thrashing and I went yelping away. Of course for many days I never went near the school, then I crept over to the girls school and found they patted and played with me, and I was not whipped, or hurt, or stoned. Since then I have always played and kissed the girls, but run away when the boys come out to play."

WEDDING BELLS

MACLEOD'S CARNIVAL QUEEN IS MARRIED

Macleod's Jubilee Queen was married at Pincher Creek on Friday afternoon last to Ernest Haug of Waterton Lakes, formerly of Macleod.
The bride, who is the daughter of Sergeant and Mrs. J. A. Webb, of Macleod, is one of Macleod's most popular young ladies. In the recent Jubilee she was elected by a large majority of votes as Queen of the Carnival, and this enviable position she carried off in beautifully regal manner. She was born and educated in Macleod, and during the past two or three years has been engaged in the Post Office here. The bridegroom is a son of Mrs. Haug and the late George Haug, and for the last ten years has been a resident of Water-ton Lakes, southern Alberta's noted summer resort. He was one of the first pioneers to popularize this now famous resort, and built the first dance hall there. At the present time he owns and operates both the Pavilion and Palace Halls, also he is interested in other properties at the Lakes.

Amongst the huge touring population that visit there each year, he is well known and liked as his knowledge of the Lakes and Rockies is unsurpassed, and many published stories concerning these mountains have emanated from his pen.

On Friday evening a big reception was held at the home of Corporal and Mrs. Ford of Waterton Lakes, and over a hundred guests attended.
The presents were both beautiful and numerous.

Mr. and Mrs. Haug will make their future home at Waterton Lakes.

UNUSUAL ACTIVITY IN AUTO- MOBILE TRADING — SOME STARTLING BARGAINS

In these days of big business deals and over-night fortunes, one is not surprised at anything, but—In the peaceful quietude of the noon-hour recess from the bustle of business, the boss of a big commercial establishment was enjoying the fragrance of his after lunch cheroot. The door of his private office stood slightly ajar, and from beyond came the occasional bustle of the office boy and the one clerk left behind to guide the progress of the business during the lunch hour. Suddenly through the open window behind him came voices—"I'll trade you one of my Marmons for a Ford!"

Here was big business to be sure—but there must be a catch in it somewhere. The business man rubbed his eyes. Was he dreaming? But the reply was even more astonishing.

"I haven't got a Ford to spare, but I tell you what; I've got two Hudsons and a Studebaker I don't want, and I'll swap you for a Chevrolet."

Here was big business with a vengeance; the commercial man decided he must get a look at the perpetrators of such hectic bargaining.

He tip-toed to the open window. Below him on the sidewalk was his office boy with a telegraph messenger.
They were swapping Guinea Gold Cigarette cards in an effort to complete a series.

He returned to the cigar, muttering, "They're on me."

But you may now insure against

Sheep Sale Successful
The annual sheep sale at Lacombe held this week, brought a return of over $16,000 for 1271 animals. Good demand for breeding stock was evident.

Test Gas Wells for Helium Testing of natural gas wells in Alberta for helium commercial values has been carried on during the past summer by the mines branch of the dominion government.

Municipal Convention
The annual convention of Alberta municipalities is to be held at Edmonton, November 5 and 6.

Heads Alberta Newspapermen L. D. Nesbitt, editor Bassano Mail, is the new president of the Alberta press association, being elected at the annual convention held at Vancouver in conjunction with the B.C. press association. The first vice-president is John Torrance, Lethbridge Herald.

Social Welfare Congress
In conjunction with social welfare congresses being held throughout Canada the coming month, the congress for Alberta will be held in Calgary and Edmonton simultaneously on October 16 and 17, when prominent social welfare workers will be speakers.

Interesting Visitor
One of the interesting visitors to Alberta during the past week has been Major Gordon Lillie, of Pawnee, Oklahoma, partner of the late W. F.
Cody, better known as Buffalo Bill.
Major Lillie was a purchaser of one of the Prince of Wales' purebred Shorthorn bulls, which he is taking back to his ranch in Oklahoma.

MARSHMALLOW RECIPES
Many are the uses of marshmallows in making desserts and candy. Occasionally a recipe for them may be found in a cook-book, but the books do not reveal one important fact left to the resourceful cook to discover, namely, that marshmallows can be cut in pieces far more successfully with a pair of scissors than with either knife or chopper; the scissors may be wiped off with a damp cloth afterward and suffer no damage. Almost all marshmallow desserts direct that each piece of the candy be cut into eight or ten pieces, and the use of scissors helps because the two blades carry the powder between them and thus is obviated the troublesome sticking that follows the use of a knife or chopper.

Canton Marshmallow Dessert
Take one cupful of crushed juicy pineapple, fruit or canned, which has been standing for some time with a heaping tablespoonful of sugar stirred up in it, and two cupfuls of fresh marshmallows cut into pieces, and mix together with one cupful of cream, whipped stiff, and half a cupful of chopped blanched almonds. Put in nut-meats may be used such as walnut, pecans, etc., or the nuts may be omitted entirely without impairing the flavor or delicacy of the dessert. The whole mixture should be set directly on the ice for an hour, and may then be served in sherbet glasses on dessert plates.

Strawberry Marshmallow Pudding
Two cupfuls of ripe strawberries slightly crushed with only a teaspoonful of sugar—stirred up, after being allowed to stand until the sugar has brought out considerable juice, with two cupfuls of diced marshmallows and a cupful of whipped cream. If the marshmallows are at all hard they should stand for an hour alone in the fruit mixture before the cream is added. This causes them to soften and swell, and take on the color of the berries.
This dessert also when chilled on the ice for an hour, is served in sherbet glasses, and is a beautiful pink confection of a mouse-like consistency.
Other fruits such as peaches, apricots, raspberries and so on may be used in the same way, but the amount of sugar used with the fruit must be varied according to its character and sweetness.
Scotch Kisses
Scotch kisses may be made with marshmallows that are slightly hard or stale more successfully than with the very fresh variety, and they are freshened completely by the process of dipping them into the hot mixture that forms a coating over them. First cook together one cupful of sugar, one of molasses, a tablespoonful of vinegar, a pinch of salt, a pinch of soda and a third of a cupful of butter.
Boil until a thread is formed by the mixture when dropped from a spoon, or until crisp when dropped in cold water; then set the saucepan on the range in a larger pan of boiling water to prevent burning and dip the marshmallows one at a time with a fork or tongue, taking care first to blow all powder from them.

Then set them on a buttered sheet to cool.

Caramels
Marshmallows cannot be too stale and hard to make use of, as they may always be melted in a double boiler or steamed soft again; but in their stale state they make delicious caramels, doing away with the need of molasses, and by their consistency preventing the separating of the mixture that so often turns the am-ateur's intended caramels into fudge.
For chocolate caramels take a cupful of milk, a cupful of sugar, two cupfuls of stale marshmallows, a pinch of salt and three squares of bitter chocolate (if cocoa is used, three ounces of cocoa), and boil all together 10 minutes. Then add butter the size of an egg, and continue cooking until a hard ball is formed when tried in cold water. Pour into a buttered pan and crease or cut when cool. The caramel mixture may also be used to coat marshmallows in the same way that the butter-scotch mixture is used, by standing the pan in boiling water while dipping the marshmallows.
These make very large and rich candies, a few of which will go a long way. Other flavors—such as maple and vanilla—may be used in place of chocolate with good result and make a welcome change in many household from the ubiquitous fudge.

Marshmallows for the above purposes or for toasting around the camp fire or on the beach are sure to be needed in large quantities, and may be bought in five-pound packages at wholesale prices from many of the large mail-order stores and packing companies. Some excellent makes may be purchased for $1.25 a five-pound package, and are beautifully put up in paraffine paper boxes of 2½ pounds each.

GOOD MANNERS
"Success without culture is like old-fashioned strawberry shortcake without whipped cream. It has no flavor," says Lillian Eichler, author of one of the best authorities on etiquette.
"There are certain little courteous observances, certain social formalities that bespeak the true lady, the true gentleman. Some of us call it good form. Some call it culture, some etiquette. But we all admit that it makes the world a better place to live in."
"In Italy young men and women are considered 'ben educato,' not when they can read and write, but when they know the established forms of convention—when they can show by a correct dignity and ease of manner that they are perfect in their knowledge of the rules of good society.
And, after all, don't you yourself judge people by what they do, and say, and wear? Don't you read in their manner and appearance the secret of their inner worth? Isn't character and disposition revealed in the outer personality?"

FOODS FOR VIGOR
No other food supplies the body with the Drive, the vigor, which fat gives. Possibly that is one reason why the small boy always is so fond of doughnuts! They are especially good in cold weather, as fats are heating. Here is Marion Harris Neil's recipe for

Rich Doughnuts
Sift before measuring 4½ to 5 cups of flour. Cream 5 tablespoons of Crisco (or other shortening) and add gradually a cup of sugar, a cup of milk, and 3 well-beaten eggs. Sift together the flour, a teaspoon of nutmeg, 4 teaspoons of baking powder, and 1½ teaspoons of salt. Add a little at a time, the egg mixture.
Roll it out as soft as it can be handled. Cut with the cutter and fry in hot shortening (lard, Crisco, etc.).
The shortening should be hot enough for 60 doughnuts.

NUT DOUGHNUTS
To make 75 nut doughnuts, change the recipe by adding ¼ cup sugar, 1 less tablespoon of shortening, ½ cup more milk, 1 less egg, 1 cup chopped English walnuts meats, 1 less teaspoon vanilla, same of lemon extract, 1 less teaspoon salt, and have the flour just enough to make a very soft dough. Sift with sugar after frying.

MOTHER'S DOUGHNUTS Doughnuts "like mother used to make" have 1 egg beaten with 1-1/2 cups sugar, with a cup of milk and butter the size of a walnut added.
Stir a teaspoon of soda and 2 of cream tartar into flour enough to make a soft dough, with a pinch of salt, ¼ teaspoon of nutmeg or cinnamon, then mix with the wet

At the monthly meeting of the Women's Foreign Missionary Society of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Macleod, held on Tuesday, at which the majority of the members were present, a discussion took place, regarding the allocation of the funds of the Society in view of the proposed union of the Churches. The meeting declared by ballot without a dissenting vote, to allocate all funds, including the Annual Thank Offering, for the continuance of the Foreign Missionary Policies of the Presbyterian Church throughout Canada and in other lands. At a meeting of the Session and Managers held last Sunday a committee was appointed to arrange for a vote of St. Andrew's Congregation in the near future on the Union question.

SUNSET REMINDER

Pale lilies in my garden grow, Beside blue larkspurs in a row;
Close by the sunny, crumbling wall, Bright hollyhocks, sedate and tall.

And purple pansies, golden-eyed Among the grasses thoughtful bide, While gray petunias, flushed with light, Pour out their gladness on the night.

Old-fashioned roses in a glow Of pink and yellow, nod and throw Their fragrance to the tranquil breeze, Thus to invite the happy bees.

So lavish are the colors strewn, Suffused with mauve, and deep maroon, I thing between the eve and dawn, A sunset strayed upon my lawn.
—Dorla Smith

DESERT WILD GESE

From sunset, slowly fading To misted beryl and blue Streaked with the melted topaz, The goose-wedge comes in view.

The boughs of twisted cedars On ledges darkly away,
Making a futile gesture
To rise and fly away.

Nothing will have beginning And nothing end in me,
For watching the geese fly over,
That any one may see.

Only my heart makes gesture Of lifting to go,
Like boughs of the twisted cedars Dark on a fading glow.
—Glenn Ward Dresbach, in "The Enchanted Mesa."

The pedestrain has the legal right-of-way, but he shouldn't insist upon it unless his family is well provided for.

SEED FAIR

The Macleod Agricultural Society have arranged for holding their Annual Seed Fair in the Town Hall on Saturday November 29th.

The Seed Fair is growing in popularity, as was shown last year by the large increase of entries over previous years. It is hoped and expected that this year the number of exhibits will be away ahead of any previous year owing to the abundance of grains of all kinds in the District. The prize list will be ready next week. All farmers interested in the Seed Fair should get a prize list at once from the Secretary, R. J. E. Gardiner.

KENT

Kentish hamlets grey and old,
The spring breeze calls you back to me;

Now I know, by weald and wold Your primroses manifold Glisten, and such delicate gold As nowhere else men see, Through the woodways soft and brown,

By the swollen streams,
By the cart-tracks rutted down, Gleams.

Sussex with wild daffodils Is not so dear to me:
All the cowslip-haunted hills,
All the bluebell-bordered rills,
And orchids round the high wind-mills

And down the marshy lea—One primrose from my Kentish home Is worth all these to me.
—Edmund Blunden, in "Pastorals."

The first grave mistake some great men make is when they have their photographs made.
